

Professional Development Plan

Then New Haven School

2011 – 2012

The professional development plan for The New Haven School includes a minimum of 12 hours being spent on breaking down the common core standards. An additional six hours will be imbedded professional development on the new state assessment and characteristics of highly effective teachers. The last six hours will be teacher specific training. The above plan is for general education teacher and is not specific to media specialist, guidance counselor, special education, or other administration.
